Distillation

This Rye Moonshine is crafted from grains grown in Quebec, in a proportion of 1/3 malted barley and 2/3 rye. This grain-bill was developed to give a balanced result and avoids the need for use of enzymes.

The grains are milled just before use in our distillery, and Champagne yeast is used for fermentation. The mash is then micro-distilled in an Aroma type alambic made by the German firm Müller Brennereianlagen, specifically designed to preserve grains aromas.

Un minimum filtration at 4°C is performed before bottling.
